The GRAMMY Museum® and BET International Present the Sounds of Africa Exhibit

New Exhibit to Open June 24 in Conjunction with the BET Experience at L.A. LIVE presented by Coca-Cola®

Sounds of Africa Explores the Diverse Sounds of African Artists

LOS ANGELES (June 17, 2016) — On Friday, June 24, 2016, the GRAMMY Museum®, in partnership with BET International, will unveil the Sounds of Africa exhibit! This showcase will celebrate the unique diversity that lives in African music, and will spotlight winners and nominees of both the GRAMMY Awards® and the "BET Awards." Located on the Museum’s third floor, this limited-time display is an extension of the 16th annual "BET Awards" and the 2016 BET Experience at L.A. LIVE presented by Coca-Cola®. This expression will amplify the celebration of African music artists as presented daily on BET International channels around the globe.

"At BET International, we look forward each year to recognizing and applauding the work of the best musical artists from the continent of Africa as a part of the annual BET Awards, and this year, we’re thrilled to collaborate with the GRAMMY Museum to take inter-continental music celebration to new heights with the Sounds of Africa exhibit," said Ava Hall, Vice President, BET International Programming and Brand Advancement. "We are beyond excited about this tribute to legendary, traditional and contemporary African music artists, and could not have asked for a better partner."

On display temporarily through fall 2016, the exhibit will feature handwritten lyrics, costumes and rare instruments from artists including:

- GRAMMY winner Angélique Kidjo, from the West African nation of Benin
- Singer/songwriter Salif Keita, from Djoliba, Mali
- Nigerian singer/songwriter Sir Victor Uwaifo
- Nigerian visual artist Laolu Senbanjo
- Congolese rumba singer/songwriter and bandleader Tabu Ley Rochereau
- Nigerian singer/songwriter and producer 2Face Idibia
- Nigerian hip-hop artist and actor Ice Prince
- And more!
